HISTORY

Chotovelli e Figli, translated to Chotovelli and Sons, is a third generation of 'Orologiaio' [watchmakers] from Torino. These big watchmakers from Torino are known for their bold and exclusive designs derived and inspired by old gauges and speedometers made by Alfa Romeo.

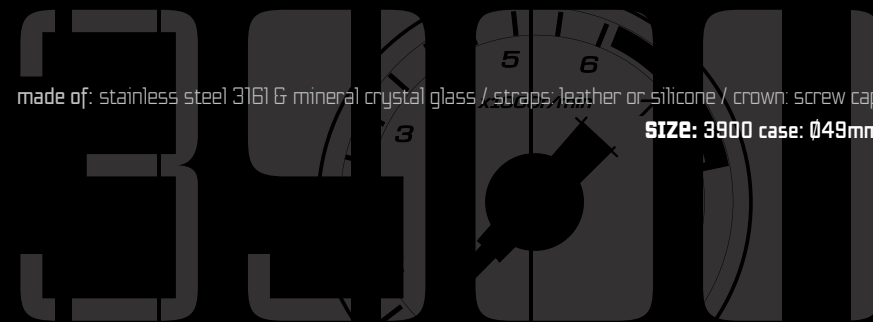

It all started in the late 1920's with Simone Chotovelli, the first Chotovelli Orologiaio. His craftsmanship and specialty in repairing and restoring old mechanical and automatic movements was well known. In 1967 he passed the knowledge and know-how to his son Yitchak Chotovelli who continued the wishes of his father and by that carried on the legacy to become a well established watchmaker.

In 2005, brother and sister Ilan and Tamara Chotovelli were inspired to revive the family tradition, launching a unique Chotovelli collection, unsurpassed in workmanship and style. The explosive popularity of these timepieces in Europe and around the world is a testimony to their Excellent quality and surprisingly reasonable prices.
